The present moment is a powerful deity.— On LONDON.— What once were vices are now the manners of the day.—Leucea.

The oldest bachelor in the world is 102, and e resides in Maine, bût it is said he projects matrimony. A-new-profession has arisen. A New York man advertises to teach mocking birds t whistle all kinds of grotesque airs, which he whistles at them-till they whistle back. A milk pitcher thrown by his wife at a Danbury man, missed the aim, and ruined a handsome frame which enclosed the words, "God Bless our Home." Robert Bonner, the publisher, has ordered an expensive monument for Fanny Fern. The pedestal will be surmounted by a Roman cross beautifully enriched with fern leaves. The Garter vacated by the death of the Inte-Earl of Zetland has been conferred upon the Earl of Leicester. Her Majesty has been pleased to knight Dr. Dickson, the Shah's medical attendant, and physician of Legation at the Court of Persia.

. A country commissioner in the western part of Maine, on inviting some lawyers to inspect the new court house, quoted the solemn lines of Dr. Watts: 'Ye sinners round come view the ground Where you will shortly lie."

A buld-breaded man says that he can't sleep a wink after daylight any more, owing to the flies and mosquitoes which get on top of his, head, where they skate and slide around so recklessly as to give bim the fidgets all the time they are taking their recreation. The Russian Government has resolved to construct 14 railways, 3,533 versts in length, in European Russia. Among these lines is one t Orenburg, along the river Volga, one through the Ural Mines, and an extension of the Kiev

Electoral Franchise in London will not be specially satisfied by a decision on the question as regards the United States just given by the U.S. Circuit Court. The court has decided that, according to the terms of the constitu tional amendments, women have no right to the suffrage in the United States. Smith, the American poet laureate, thus breaks forth: "Oh, the snore, the beautifu snore, filling the chamber from ceiling to floor Over the chverlet, under the sheet, from her wee dimpled chin to her pretty feet, Now rising aloft like a bee in June, now sunk to the way of a cracked bassoon; Now, flute-like, subsid ing, then rising again, is the beautiful shore of Elizabeth Janc."

TURKEFAND HER NEIGHBOURS.—It is be lieved in St. Peteraburg, that the alliance be tween the three Imperial Courts has led to the adoption of a common policy in view of certain eventualities in Turkey. There is a question of a wilitary occupation to be made in common by Austria and Russia; but with the consent of Germany and England, -Globe. The Queen has presented to Lady Smith, o

Lowestoft, a copy of "Leaves from our Journal in the Hinglands," in commemoration of her JOHN AND HENRY GWYNN 100th birthday, celebrated in May last. The ENGINEERS, BOILER MAKERS, fly-leaf contains the following in the Queen's handwriting: "To Lady Smith, on her 100th birthday, from Victoria R -Baimeral, 1873." Lady Smith was able to write her reply to the enwell police-court the other day. A dancing master, who was prosecuting a man on a charge of assault, admitted in pross-examination that Machinery for Drainage, Irrigation, and he had never lived with his wife, for on the day of the marriage he was in her company only 10 minutes or a quarter of an Hour, and then he left her. Her parents were in much better circumstances, and it was their wish that he should marry their daughter and then leave her. This he accordingly did.

Selfishness, when it is punished by the world is mostly punished because it is connected with egotism. A man may help himself to an exorbitant portion of the good things of this life if he will only keep, quiet about it, and not obtrude himself upon people's notice. The cat takes the best place in the room, and nobodygrudges it to ber, because her purring satisfaction is not loudly obtruded on the company. But to bask 'like a cat in the warmest place, and scream like a parrot, will never do. THE SECRET OF HEALTH.—First, keep warm. Second, cat regularly and slowly. Third, maintain regular bodily habits. Fourth, take early and light suppers, or none at all, Fifth, keep a clean skin. Sixth, get plenty of sleep at night. Seventh, keep cheerful and respectable company. Eigth, keep out of debt. Ninth don't set apy mind of things you don't need. Touth, mind your own business. Eleventh, don't set up to be a sharp of any kind. Twelfth, subdue curiosity .- Home and Health. A man in Penneylvania has invented a rattrap that is made to operate upon the selfish passion of the poor rat and lead him into trouble.

The Mechanic and Farmer, in a description of the trap, says that a mirror is set in the back of the device beyond the bait, and as his rutship is out on a foraging expedition, he not only espies the bait, but at the same time believes his own image in the mirror to be another rat making for it on the opposite side. This is too h much for rat nature to stand and be cool over so he rushes at the bait and meets his fate. A SINGULAR MONUMENT.-Among the monuments in the squares or plazus of Vienna, is one, in the Graben, that is so peculiar as to command even the attention of the European traveller who has been surfeited with the sight of these pillurs of stone to the memory of men TO HOTOGEAPHER and women. This is called the Trinity Column C It represents as dense volume of smoke or cloud rising from an altar to the height of about thirty feet, and has figures, of angels around it, their honds and wings protruding. It was erected, as an inscription upon its base informs us, by order of Emperor Leopold-I., in remarkably well executed, and if the dust and smoke of one hundred years were reliabled; it would command marked attention.

A TUNNEL THROUGH THE ROCKY MOUN-TAINS.—A scheme is now on foot for run-

ing a tunual through the Rocky Mountains The idea is to tunnel the mountains from a point about one mile below Black Hawk to the Middle Park, running in a north-westerly direction. The tunnel to run will; it is presumed, cut many rich veins of gold and silver, and thus a great mining interest be developed. Money for the prosecution of the work is furnished by English capitalists, who are sanguine of the ultimute success of the enterprise. Some soon to let 14 N., then light and baffling winds and calms till the last two days, when got pleted, will be twelve miles in length. It is intended to make it large enough to be used for railway purposes, and so, if a road is ever to be constructed to the Middle Park, it will find its most convenient route through the tunnel. It will be called the Sierra Madre Tunnel Company, and the incorporation papers for its organisation have already been filed .- Albion.

ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong.

POR comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous ob jects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word fully illustrated and explained, forming exer cises for students of a most instructive nature Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vant economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margine and vacant spaces which have bereicfore characterized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast ecope of the work, the following facts are submitted for consideration. Chalmers' Vocabularly contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medburst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammar and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various appli-cations and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples Kwong Hine Shop, No. 57, Praya, in this Co-carly despatch. this work contains more than five times as long, as a Ship's Compradore. - MEMORIES...

BY S. H. BRADBURY, There dawn dear memories of the past, To charm us as we muse alone. Like bues on land and water cast, When long bright days have almost flown Sometimes they come and fill the mind . As stars the heavens when clouds are few: And there a cherished welcome find,

Though old yot seeming ever new. They are the treasures time-has made, To shadow forth the bygone years; Though dim betimes they cannot fade, For each some bullowed beauty bears: Long slumbering joys each gently wakes, Forms of the past cash gently weaves, L'en us a cloudless sunset makes

A cool red splendour, mong the leaves They are our day dreams of a time " Ere life had felt the touch of care; Loved like some sweet bell's boly chime, That faints upon the Sabbath air. They are the colors of the past. And with us when along they dwell;

"For all their wondrous mysteries list, Aske sounds of ocean in a shell.

-Frednic.

GENERAL SQUASH. The General and I exchanged cards before we had been two days on the ocean. I am not demonstrative myself, and am slow to make friends, or I might have made his acquaintance earlier. I am afraid that I must chave expressed by my face, unwittingly and unintentionally, though certainly not in words, some little degree of surprise at the name of my new friend, Hiram Elijah Squash; for such were the words upon the card. "Yes," said the General, instinctively divin-- ing my thought, "the name is uncommon. and a little too remarkable for my taste. should have been obliged to my father if K had given me a simpler one. But in our new country we love to throw off the old ideas of Europe; and parents give their children newer and more suggestive names than the eternal John, Thomas, Edward, Henry William; Charles and Jumes of the English: Our people ransack the Bible for names, and call their sons Solomons, Hirams, Enochs, Elijahs, Aarous, Moseses, Elihus, Jehoshumats, and many others that they nick out at random from the Old Testament Others, again, go to ancient Greece for names for their children. I know half-a-dozen people called Ulysses; and am acquainted with Solous, Hoxlers, Lycurguses, Epaminondases, Socrateses, and Pericleses. I know Tone man 'out west,' and a very good man too, in spite of his ridiculous name, who is Circle Shakespeare Milton Lippingott. He is not in the least degree poetical, and deals largely in pork. It is said on behalf of such manes that they inspire the youthful mind with a desire to imitate the virtues, or emulate the high character of their original bearers. I know, however, that in my case it is a failure. How can I emulate Hiram or Elijah, I should like to know? My father rates of Premium at the respective places. was a poor man in Connecticut; his name was Jehoshaphat, and he sought, I suppose to give me a name more ridiculous than his own. Hiram is a very good name, and would have satisfied me without the Elijah, but he didn't ask my consent, and here I am placarded as you see. Nevertheless, my singular appellation has done me no harm that I know of; and if anybody chooses to laugh he may. The laughter of a fool does not hurt me, and a good man can make any name respectable. There is nothing very prepossessing about the name of Longfellow -it might have been Shortfellow or Bigfellow-yet our poet has contrived to make it great and famous. And your Dickens has a name that might once have suggested the ludicrous or the profane, but by the light of his genius he has rendered it illustrious. And Squash may be as distinguished as any other, if I can make it so by my virtues and abilities."-From St. James's Magazine. 1 GROTESQUE SOLDIERS. From Pemba we proceeded to the Commore group, and anchored off the picturesque island of Mobilla. On August 20th some of the officials came on board to convey her Majesty's welcome to the island," and with being payable on the issue of the Policy. an invitation to visit her: On the afternoon of the same day I landed with Mr. Shapcote the paymaster, for that purpose; passing through the village, which is chiefly composed of neat buts, we ascended the hill, accompanied by our interpreter and three Arab chiefs, whom, whother rightly or wrongly, I set down to be the prime minister, the foreign secretary, and the commander-in-chief of all the forces. In the last case I was not mistaken, for as we ascended the hill "all the forces" themselves made their appearance, about twenty-five or thirty men of very dif- of Premia contributed by each, the remaining ferent sizes, and of ascinany shades of colour, third being carried to Reserve Fund. and as they approached, the commandersinchief displayed his authority by exclaiming in a magnificent tone, and to my utter astonishment in plain English, "Halt," "front," "dress," "shoulder arms," which orders were carried-eat according to the taste and fancy of each individual soldier. "Hallo! Jumah!" I said in a whisper, "that fellow speaks English, and must have heard what we said." my master, that man he no speak more manifish than that, they always give orders in English, but they only know a few." The appearance of "all the force" baffle description, and I would certainly advise those who have not great control over their risible faculties never to venture on a visit to Mobilla, lest they offend the great men of that island, by appearing to ridicule what in all the fulness of their hearts they mean "as an honour, and an expression of their pleasure at seeing you. "All the forces" were headed by three or four cracked fifes and several toutous. The men baving obeyed the last orders as well as they could, the commander-in-chief of "all undersigned Agents of above named Companies, and forces" took up a position in front of them, and after reprimanding about twenty of their number, individually and collectively, puve the order. THE PEAK OF TENERIFFE. I returned last night from an excursion up the Peak. What an amazing scene! what a gratification! We descended some way into the crater, perhaps farther than any provious scientific traveller. No one except Borda and Mason bas been even beyond the last cone. There is little danger in the accent, only fatigue from the trying effects of heat and cold; for the sulphurous vapour in the crater burnt holes in our clothes while our hands were numb in a temperature of 36 deg. What a remarkable speciacle was presented to us at this height of 11,500 feet! | / THE Undersigned having been appointe former streams of lava at our feet; on either side this scene of devastation, three square i current rates. miles of pumice-stone, bordered by groves of laurel, beyond which vineyards interspersed with bananas stretched down to the sea; pretty villages dotted along the coast, the ocean with all the seven islands, among which Palma and Grand Canary are distinguished by lofty valcances spread out before us like a map. The crater into which we have descended emits only sulphurous vapour: the temperature of the ground is 190 deg. The lava streams break out at the sides of the mountain, where small craters are formed similar to those by which two years ago the whole island was illuminated. On that oc-Liverpool and London and Glob casion, a subterraneous noise was heard for two months like the firing of cannon, andstones of the size of a house were hurled into the air to the height of 4,000 feet. I have made some important mineralogical observations here. The Peak is composed of basalt, upon which lie beds of prophyry and obsidian prophyry. Fire and water rage below the surface; I noticed steam escaping from every point. Almost all the lava streams appeared to be melted basait. The pumice-stone is evidently produced from obsidian prophyry; I have specimens where the two conditions are united in one piece. At the foot of the L.
